

LETTER OF AUTHORSHIP AND ASSIGNMENT OF RIGHTS

, to

Dear REMEVAL Editors:

We, the undersigned, hereby declare that we are the authors of the article entitled:

This article is submitted for evaluation and possible publication in REMEVAL, and we declare that it complies with the following points, in compliance with the good practices, guidelines and editorial policies of REMEVAL:

1. Originality and Unpublished Nature of the Work

The article is original, unpublished, and of a scientific nature.

The article has not been submitted, nor will it be submitted simultaneously, to another journal or publication system during the REMEVAL editorial process.

All information and data presented in the article have been prepared by the authors or, where applicable, are duly cited and referenced.

There has been no plagiarism, self-plagiarism, or scientific fraud, and we accept the journal's policy regarding these practices.

If the article includes unpublished data, the source and those responsible for this data have been properly cited in the manuscript.

2. Authorship

The signatories of this letter are the sole intellectual authors of the article and have actively participated in its preparation and research.

No person who has significantly contributed to the development of the manuscript has been omitted

3. REMEVAL Policies

We have read and accepted REMEVAL's Editorial Policies, Guidelines, and Code of Ethics.

We agree that the article will be submitted to a double-blind peer-review process, and that its acceptance will be subject to receiving two positive opinions.

We understand that, in the event of a dispute, the final and unappealable decision will be determined by the REMEVAL Editorial Committee.

4. Assignment of Rights and Distribution of Content

If accepted, we grant REMEVAL the rights to publish the article for the first time.

We authorize REMEVAL to disseminate and distribute the article in its various indexes, databases, and platforms, under the terms of the Open Journal System license.

The journal reserves the right to make formatting, spelling, and style adjustments it deems appropriate for its final publication.

5. Funding Acknowledgment (if applicable)

We appropriately acknowledge all sources of funding received for the research, as stated in the manuscript.
